- <http://www.api.org/products-and-services/standards/purchase>
 - This website has a great, user friendly layout and design. Makes searching the different software easy and has testimonials.
- <https://developer.bestbuy.com/>
 - Who knew Best Buy had a developer portal? (Hint: Not me.) Lists the different developer resources for using the API's and offers support. Also users can connect to their Twitter, GitHub, blog and newsletter all from the home page. Users can also familiarize themselves with the API's through their GitHub.
- <https://www.programmableweb.com/category/sales/api>
 - This site lists several different API's on the homepage and gives a brief overview of each one. Also offers links to help the developers use the different APIs.
